Reconstitution Of National Guard Begun

DRYS SLAP REDS

MANY NEW BRANCHES AUTHORIZED

SEVEN REGIMENTS AND ONE EXTRA BATTALION OF INFANTRY.

18 COMPANIES OF COAST ARTILLERY

Extensive Program is Announced by the War Department at Washington.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, April 23.—Reconstitution of the national guard was actually started today when the war department, through the bureau of militia affairs, authorized the organization of seven regiments and one extra battalion of infantry, one squadron of cavalry and 18 companies of coast artillery.

The state of New York was authorized to raise four regiments of infantry, one squadron of cavalry and 12 companies of coast artillery. New Jersey was authorized to organize one regiment of infantry, and two companies of coast artillery. Ohio two regiments of infantry and one company of coast artillery. Oregon one battalion of infantry and four companies of coast artillery.

Replacement troops are intended to replace state troops which under section 61 of the national defense act cannot be legally maintained by the states in time of peace. That section prohibits the maintenance of any troops except those prescribed in the act—regulars and national guard.

Other authorizations for units are expected to follow soon. The states first considered were those in which conditions were such that their governments considered armed force might be necessary under certain contingencies. The state of Pennsylvania, for instance, reported to the war department that it possessed an efficient constabulary and 3,000 state troops, sufficient to handle any emergency which could be foreseen at this time.

Must be fit June 3.

The units authorized today must be in such state of organization before June 3 as to be eligible for federal recognition. The states are expected to extend financial aid. The organizations will all be based on a peace status, a company consisting of 65 as a minimum.

"It should be clearly understood," the message sent to the state governments said, "that the war department does not call for the organization of the national guard at the present time, but leaves initiation of the organization with state authorities and it is not desired to anticipate the action of congress in the formulation of the national military policy, nor is it believed desirable to undertake the general reorganization of the national guard prior to the demobilization of the former national guard units from the United States army."

PEACE—and—WAR

ALTHOUGH the peace conference has passed along for future adjustment of the Japanese problem, one of the two troublesome questions standing in the way of the final shaping of the peace treaty, the Italian situation was still pressing for solution at today's meetings of the conference leaders.

Italy's delegation at the peace conference, however, seems to be showing a disposition to recede from the extreme attitude which it had taken and which has brought about an admitted grave situation in the work of restoring peace. Reports from Paris indicate a willingness on the part of the Italians to listen to suggestions of a compromise, this leading to hopes that some way will be found to adjust the conflicting demands of Italy and Jugoslavia regarding the city of Fiume and the Dalmatian coast.

Italy, it is said, has offered to give up all claims to the Dalmatian coast and the coastal watershed. On the other hand she has rejected offers of Fiume in return for relinquishing any claims she may have on the Dalmatian coast.

Rival claims of China and Japan to Kiaochow and the Shantung peninsula have not been settled and if the Chinese and Japanese governments consent it seems probable that these claims will be left to be taken up by the league of nations after peace has been declared. After conferring on the subject yesterday, the council of four announced that Germany's rights to the territory involved in the dispute would be terminated, but no final disposition was made of the peninsula or the former German fortress of Kiaochow.

It seems to be established that the soviet government of Hungary has been crumbled, but the situation is still obscure. The British warship control is not definitely known.

Munition and arms factories at Budapest are in full operation, it is said. The report that a soviet regime had been set up in Turkey is doubted in London, where it is pointed out that if there was any truth in the rumor there would have been reports forwarded by wireless to the British admiralty.

The Russian bolshevik reverse on the northwestern front reported Tuesday, was at the hands of the Poles who have taken Vilna and have pierced the bolshevik lines to the south. On the north Russian front the allies have pushed forward a considerable distance along the lines south of the Mernsk peninsula.

Serious disorders occurred at Hamburg, Germany, Saturday and Sunday. In the suburb of St. Pauli, on the western outskirts of the city, mobs have clashed with the police and appear to have met with some measure of success.

ALLEY CLEAN UP IS ORDERED BY CITY HEALTH OFFICER

Dr. Fred B. Welch, city health officer, today issued the following order on the cleaning up of alleys:

"I wish to notify the property-owners, whose property adjoins an alley, that such alley must be cleared up before May 5. If this is not done, then the street commissioner will be directed to do the work and the cost of such work will be charged up against the property. The alley of this city is in a filthy, insanitary condition and present to the eye a most unfavorable picture. Many of the back yards adjacent to alleys are covered with debris and this should also be removed. I sincerely hope that the property-owners will give this matter their immediate attention and that through their co-operation we will have a cleaner and more sanitary city."

MEXICAN OIL FIELDS ATTRACT ALL NATIONS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Mexico City, Tuesday, April 23.—Commissions from virtually every nation in Europe are investigating or are coming to make inquiries as to making investments in the Mexican oil field. American experts are exploring districts in Chihuahua near the Durango border for oil producing lands, according to a statement today by the department of industry and commerce.

BEERSHIVISIN AT BADGER BAR SCORED

WILLIS AND HUTTON MAKE STRONG PLEAS AGAINST SALOONS.

SCORE PROVISIONS OF BURKE'S BILL

Bolshevism Rampant in Wisconsin; Backs Brewery Fight, Say Speakers.

Beershevism and bolshevism in Wisconsin wound into a tight ball were struck into the outfield on a home run hit by Speaker R. P. Hutton and Ex-Gov. F. J. Willis at the Dr. Jubilee dinner served at the Y. M. C. A. last evening to invited guests numbering some 100 men and to be exact 11 women.

Flavoring the bolshevistic beershevism with extracts of anti-Americanism, socialism, Bergerism, I. W. W.-ism, weary Willieism, and restless propaganda the speakers sounded the challenge of beer and bolshevism versus law and liberty.

The Burke bill, alleged by anti-saloons as the free and open work room of the liquor menace was scored by both speakers. The bill is up for a reading in the assembly Thursday. Antis were urged to voice their protest to Axel Johnson, assembly chamber, Madison.

Speakers Vic in Force

The two speakers, Ex-Gov. Frank B. Willis of Ohio, defeated for the senate and term of office at the last election because he stood for prohibition, and R. P. Hutton, superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league, vied with each other as effective forces in driving home the necessity for the destruction of the 60 mile long Badger bar. A. E. Matheson presided at the meeting.

"Is Wisconsin going to be a law abiding state or a prohibition state? Within six months she will have to choose her play. The eyes of the whole country are focused on Wisconsin right now. If you pass the Burke bill history will put you down as actors of the fourth nullification act. Wisconsin has more than its share of bolshevism."

Thus Ex-Gov. Willis roused the demand for right in the hearts of his hearers. In an equally effective plea Superintendent Hutton put forth his challenge as follows:

Hutton Scores Oasis Prospects

"We have more anti-Americanism along the lakeshore of Wisconsin than there is any place else in the union. We would make us the only oasis in the dry northwest. We shall be the only garbage can left in the alley. How the flies will swarm hither."

Contrasting the attitude in Oregon and Washington after the states had voted dry Superintendent Hutton showed how Oregon dries redoubled their efforts and in two years' time not only was prohibition enacted, but radicalism has been introduced, and on the other hand, he said, the dries let down, prohibition was defied, the radicals of the northwest migrated to Seattle and presently Mayor Ole Hanson was the only thing between America and a bolshevian revolution.

Superintendent Hutton continued in part as follows:

"Lawlessness not only begets lawlessness, it attracts lawlessness. Near the world wide head up stream toward the strongest smell. Our liquor lawlessness attracted the advocates of other lawlessness. Prohibition will accentuate our position. Wisconsin is surrounded by states whose legislatures have promised drastic enforcement measures; whose governors pledge prohibition shall be enforced. In the fact of this a Milwaukee socialist assemblyman has introduced, and many Wisconsin legislators are threatening to pass, an enforcement measure which would exempt beer from the effects of prohibition as non-intoxicating."

After paying a glowing tribute to Wisconsin soldiers, Wisconsin's record in war work, and the state organization back of the temperance movement, Ex-Governor Willis charged the state with caring in taking the greatest step ever contemplated by it.

"I always was told beer was a tonic. Now I know it is Teutonic," said the former governor.

"Defiance of the dry amendment breeds defiance for all law. The seed of bolshevism is in our midst. Liquor defiance will water it, and we shall have that creed which hates the spirit of industry as it eschews the barbarism and the bath tub. The 'No work' cry does not come from honest labor unions, but from socialist soviet masquerading in the cloak of labor. It is Prussian baggoten and wet nursed of beer."

Legion of the red-handed Trotsky and the treacherous Lenin to be shipped back where they belong, in the weltering chaos of Russian anarchy."

DEVELOPMENT OF MISSISSIPPI VALLEY URGED FOR 'NEW ERA'

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Ill., April 23.—Development of the great Mississippi valley, stretching from the Rockies to the Alleghenies, and from the lakes southward to the gulf, was urged today by John M. Parker, of New Orleans, president of the Mississippi Valley Association at its first annual convention. He spoke of the "new era" unfolding for the prosperity of the valley.

He said: "This period involves the use of our waterways in conjunction with our easy grade rail lines, the efficient development of our gulf ports, use of our merchant marine and easy access to the world's new markets of great promise—Mexico, Central and South America, Africa and the Orient. The Panama canal opens the way."

P. E. Ernest Cramer of St. Louis urged the benefits to be derived from operation of the proposed Mississippi Valley Overseas Trading Company with a capitalization of $25,000,000 for import and export business.

That the opera house will be packed to capacity as it has been in previous meetings is a foregone conclusion. There will be no solicitation of subscriptions.

Soldiers and sailors will be seated on the stage as special guests.

Ex-Governor Will Speak

F. E. Buss, chairman of the city campaign committee will open the meeting following community singing led by C. R. Beardmore. The gavel will then be turned over to W. H. Dougherty, chairman of the speakers' bureau. His speech will be followed by the address of the evening by Ex-governor Adolph Olson Eberhart of Minnesota.

Mr. Eberhart is reputed to be a forceful speaker. His address is awaited with interest. He is a native of Sweden. He was born there in 1870 and went to Minnesota in 1881. He graduated from Gustavus Adolphus college in 1895 and was admitted to the bar in 1898. He acted as United States commissioner at Mankato, was elected state senator in 1902, and served as lieutenant-governor of Minnesota from 1905 to 1909 when he became governor upon the death of John A. Johnson. He was elected governor in 1911 and again in 1913. Since completing his second term in 1916 he has been engaged in the contracting business at St. Paul.

CRISIS IN BUDAPEST NEAR VIOLENT SWING TO RED ANARCHISM

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Budapest, Tuesday, April 23.—This city is going through a crisis worse than that of April 8. There is apprehension that there will be a violent swing to anarchy with the socialists losing control to bolshevik leaders like Bela Kun and chiefs of the Red Guard. Looting which hitherto has been held in check or legalized as the "nationalization of property" and the assassination of the old political leaders and the aristocrats are feared. Reports are current that the Rumanians and Czechs have received orders from the allies to march on Budapest. This is increasing the uneasiness here. It is felt, however, that the Rumanians are advancing merely to occupy the territories set aside for them by the allied note of March 20, which resulted in the resignation of Count Michael Karolyi, the former premier.

The fact that the communists are unable to prevent the allies from occupying the districts involved is weakening the influence of Bela Kun and increasing violent hatred against the allies among the Hungarians.

PREMIER TO RETURN TO ITALY TODAY

ADJUSTMENT OF FIUME AND DALMATIA IS SUES HOPELESS.

WILSON REPEATS: "NOTHING DOING"

Delegation of Conferees As Just As Determined To Get Their Demands.

Paris, April 23.—Premier Orlando threatens to return to Italy today unless there is a satisfactory adjustment of the Fiume and Dalmatian questions. Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain is trying to persuade the Italian leader to remain in Paris longer while he continued his efforts to reconcile the opposing viewpoints.

Wilson Stands Pat.

In a statement issued by President Wilson today explaining his position on the Adriatic question he declares that Fiume cannot become a part of Italy.

The president points out that every condition concerning the Adriatic settlement has been changed since Italy entered the war, upon the promises of the pact of London, the Austro-Hungarian empire having disappeared. He notes that new states have been created for which Fiume is the natural outlet to the sea.

The president also contends that the strategic necessity pleaded in behalf of Italy's claims to the Dalmatian islands no longer prevails as the Austro-Italian naval menace has ceased to exist.

Delegation is Firm.

The Italian delegation to the peace conference reasserted today its determination to stand firm on the question of Fiume indicating that unless the council changed its position the delegation would not return to the conference.

An early settlement of the difficulty is consequently thought to be improbable, especially as President Wilson is understood to be equally as firm as the Italian representatives.

With Premier Orlando still absent, Premiers Clemenceau and Lloyd George and President Wilson resumed this morning the consideration of questions concerning China and Japan.

Premier Lloyd-George tried unsuccessfully during the discussion last night to reconcile the viewpoints of President Wilson and Premier Orlando on the Italian situation, it became known today.

Facts of Deadlock.

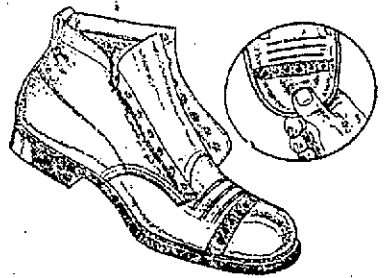

The facts of the deadlock over the Italian claims in the Adriatic, according to the Petit Parisien, are as follows:

President Wilson proposed that Fiume, which is not mentioned in the treaty of London, should be a free city, but attached to the Jugo-Slav customs system and further that the London treaty should be subjected to a total revision.

Italy refused to accept this proposal, whereupon President Wilson withdrew, leaving Italy alone with the representatives of the other signatories of the treaty. During the meetings of the representatives of the signatories, both Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino were most conciliatory, Orlando especially having asked repeatedly on what condition France and Great Britain will consent to give Fiume to Italy. Baron Sonnino said he was ready to discuss a revision of the London treaty.

However, President Wilson, who, while he was not present at the meetings, kept in touch with them, then wanted to reopen the question of the treaty of London, but without joining the revision to the fate of Fiume. The president has receded from his first proposal to make Fiume a free city and is inclined to give it absolutely to the Jugo-Slavs.

WALLACE PRESENTS PAPERS IN FRANCE; SPEAKS FOR UNITY

Paris, Tuesday, April 23.—Hugh C. Wallace, American ambassador to France, in presenting his credentials to President Poincare today, said that in addition to conferring peace on the world, it was necessary to unite the people in support of it.

Mr. Wallace said: "Mr. President: I have the honor to present to your excellency the letters which accredit me as ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary of the United States to the French republic. I am indeed honored, for I come at the end of the world war to carry the message of peace to the French people. In that struggle Frenchmen and Americans fought side by side until the final victory was won on French soil, under French command, and Paris, for a time, the capital of the world, now is witnessing the erection of the temple of peace."

"We hope to dedicate that temple in the name of the league of nations and make it the basis for the great work which was fought in the defense of civilization should be the last conflict of mankind. When victory came it was complete and the peace which is to follow should be lasting. The American people, in that struggle, were one with the French people, and the task of reconstruction, for a time, a common task, and principle, are working with united energy."

"I am fortunate Mr. President, to come to you at such a time, for my responsibility is great. My task should be to do together what we have done and are yet to do together need no interpretation. Words fall from our lips in different accents but as friends and allies in war and peace we speak the common language of the heart."

MILTON COLLEGE GIVES COMMUNITY CONCERT

(By Special Correspondence.)
Milton, April 23.—The community concert given last evening in the college gymnasium was pronounced by visitors to be a really remarkable achievement. An orchestra of over 100 players and a chorus of 70 or more singers presented classical and modern music of metropolitan appreciation.

The program contained as its chief work Schubert's sacred cantata, "Milton's Song of Triumph." The orchestra played Schubert's "Military March" and "Paderewski's" famous "Minuet." Besides these there were many selections of modern and popular music, including old songs sung by the audience. Prof. L. H. Stringer sang twice. The soloists in the cantata were Miss Pearl Greider and Miss Anna Whitford. The concert was produced under the direction of Prof. A. E. Whitford and Miss Alberta Crandall, director of the school music.

BACK PAY FIGURING RAIL MEN'S SPORT

Janesville railroad men are wearing out pencils down to the rubber these days. Figuring up back pay from January is the popular sport. Engineers, yardmen, brakemen and conductors should be well up in mathematics as the result of their labors.

The best of the trouble is that after the tablets have been used up and the pencils sharpened to nothing the rail men know no more as to what is due them than they did before they commenced.

Railroad Director Hiles' recent order for a big boost in wages effecting the four great brotherhoods, the Teamsters, Engineers, Firemen and Conductors, is accountable for all the figuring. The railroad men will collect back pay from January to the last day of the year. The railroad pay-master is working overtime figuring out the bonuses. Just when the big checks are due to arrive is a matter of speculation similar to amount to be received by individuals.

NORTHEAST RUSSIA WOMEN REGISTER IN "FREE LOVE" BUREAU

London, April 23.—The law providing for the nationalization of women in northeast Russia has been suspended in one province following a popular outcry, according to information reaching London from Stockholm. The commissary of Vladimir has by decree appointed a committee of women who are to inquire into the operations of the law and make a report. His action has been approved by the local soviet.

The Krasnyaya Gazette publishes an account of the results of nationalization. The system provides that every girl on reaching the age of 18, must register her name in the bureau of free love, after which she is compelled to select a partner from among men between 19 and 50 years old. The law led to lamentable confusion, as the Gazette in "judicial notions as to personal inalienability."

Two Daughters Seized.
A few days after soviet's decree, which women were generally ignored, two men known to nobody in the town, arrived and seized the two daughters of a "well known non-bourgeois comrade" declaring they had chosen them as wives and that they, without further ceremony must submit as they had not observed the registration rule. Two judges decided in favor of the men and the girls were carried off. They have not since been heard of by the village folk.

This, says the Gazette, was done in the name of the nationalization of women.

Many other instances of fantastic operation of the law, not to speak of its inhumanity, are cited by the Gazette. Enthusiasts for nationalization, naturally at males, raid whole villages, seize young girls, and demand proof that they are not over 18. As this proof is difficult to give many of the girls are carried off and there have been suicides and murders as a result.

Unparalleled Campaign.
In the town of Kovrov a campaign without parallel since the "Trojan war" was waged between vengeful relatives of an abducted nationalized girl and her prospective suitors.

In this town the "register of nationalized women" was opened on December 1 but up to February 1, last, neither of whom had ever been married, registered themselves as willing to accept the first husband the state sent along.

On the committee to revise the nationalization decree or to recommend its complete abrogation, sits Mme. Vera Arkadiev, a holshuviki who commanded a detachment of women soldiers during the recent operations against Admiral Kolchak's army at Perm. She has been twice wounded.

WILSON "AMAZED."
Information has come out of Washington, indicating that President Wilson is "amazed" at the fact that the Japs and the British and French have entered in the peace treaty which they did not want our president to sign.
The Wilson was vainly attempting to make an ideal peace and establish a league of nations along lines which he himself drew, other members of the big four were concentrating their endeavors upon more material things —such as more territory, for instance.
It was predicted in these columns some time ago that President Wilson would awaken to the fact that the keen diplomats, politicians and others who will not relinquish a mite of power if they can prevent it were "double crossing" him at every opportunity and that unless they took immediate steps to change their course, he had better make arrangements to come home and attend to affairs in this country which need immediate attention.

That which has caused Wilson "amazement" are the reports from Paris in which it is stated that revelations have been made of the secret arrangement between Great Britain and France and Japan relative to Japan's claim to the Pacific Islands and valuable rights in Shantung.
It has been learned that Japan in February, 1917, had brought her claims to the attention of both the British and French governments and had had them endorsed.

The secret agreement which has now been made known is in clear violation of five and fourteen of the president's fourteen points. Number five declares that there must be an impartial adjustment of all colonial claims based upon the principle that the peoples concerned have equal weight with the interest of the government. Number thirteen is in favor of the preservation of the territorial integrity of large and small states.

PRESIDENTIAL BOOMS.

Presidential booms are flaring up and flickering out with more or less rapidity these days. Several have been carefully nourished for a few days or weeks and then allowed to with, like the lily, and droop.

The latest combination to reach the nation's capital for evident approval is that of Gen. Leonard Wood-Gov.
James Goodrich of Indiana, with the general announced as presidential timber and the governor his aid as vice-president.
Senator James Watson of Indiana had presidential aspirations up to a few days ago. But they have been discouraged. The Indiana statesman is serving the unexpired term of the late Senator Shively. If he entered the presidential race in earnest he would have to abandon his candidacy for re-election to the senate. It is said that his candidacy for president did not meet with the favor of Will dick chairman of the republican national committee. It is said that Gov.
Goodrich, although willing to support
Watson for a full term in the senate, did not favor the presidential candidacy.

The little boom which was started, evidently by Madison admirers, who are attached to the state payroll, for Gov. Phillip, as vice-president, has not gained much momentum. When the announcement was made that the Wisconsin man might favorably consider making the race for the sake of the republican party, the huzzas were not loud. In fact, enthusiasm was woefully lacking.

YOUTH SHOULD BUY.

The young people have a great opportunity to make an investment that will start them on the right road to success. Those who have good jobs, paying good wages and who have no one dependent on them for support have the opportunity of a life time to start a saving account which some day will mark the difference between old age poverty and comfort.

If the young people in Janesville who are working will determine to buy a Victory bond in denomination which will make possible an easy installment payment, they will not only make a good financial investment, but they will start on the road to thrift.

Uncle Sam wants every man and woman in this nation to buy as much of these bonds as he or she can, but he is particularly anxious to have the young people get in on this good thing.

And it is a GOOD THING. Four and three-quarters percent is a good rate of interest when backed by government bonds. Let every boy and girl go the limit on this Victory bond.
They will not only help the government finish a job that has been well started, but they will start for themselves a saving habit which will be mighty valuable to them in years to come.

The council showed no hesitancy in starting proceedings to condemn the property wanted for the new high school. It should not be expected that the citizens be forced to pay $1,000 more than the price alleged to have been agreed upon six weeks ago. Property assessed at $5,000 certainly should not be worth $12,500.

Owners of property abutting on alleys are going to have the honor of leading in the move to clean up during the week of May 5 to 10. There are a number of alleys which can stand a thorough cleaning.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

He little knew how many eyes were watching him each day,
He little dreamed how many ears caught all he had to say;
He thought it mattered not at all when petty things he did,
He fancied that his virtues showed and all his flaws were hid.
But this one fact of life on earth to him remained unknown
That no man, be he great or low, lives to himself alone.

Youth heard his careless speech at times, and passed along their way
And soon repeated every phrase that they had heard him say;
Strangers observed his every deed,
witnessed his crown or smile,
And later did as he had done and followed in his style.
He thought men shaped their lives themselves, and never dreamed or knew That others might be influenced by the things he chanced to do.

Yet cheerful men who pass along leave cheerful men behind,
And kindly men rouse other men to helpful ways and kind.
For each man is an influence for good or for the bad,
We but reflect from day to day the lessons we have had.
And so the greatest failure that can come to man is
Is not to live so other men may safely tread his way.

ALL OVER BUT THE PROFITEER- ING.

Yes, the war is over.
And you can prove that Very easily.
If you don't believe
The war is over,
Try to buy something.

During the late unpleasantness
Now retails for twenty cents.

Butter and eggs are hitting
New altitude records.
Telegraph rates are boosted;
Beef is jumping over the moon;

Good $2 shirts are $4.50.
Sure the war is over.
And peace, the thing we fought for,
Has arrived in our midst.
If you don't believe it,
Try to buy something.

With her pay safely tucked away in her pocket and the thanks of the family safely tucked in a warm spot in her heart, she now sought rest and hoped to find a room at the Young Woman's Christian Association, but every one was occupied, so she sought the nearest hotel, the Blackstone. Here she spent a fairly comfortable night after sending in calls for more covers or heat three times. Her bill just for the room was $5.50 and she did not stay for breakfast there, but got a lunch and took the first train out to La Harpe.—Henderson County (Ill.)

Famous Saloon Out.
Eau Claire—After being used continuously for saloon purposes since 1860 or 1861, the store building on Eau Claire's main thoroughfare adjoining the Grand Opera house and known for years as the Between Acts saloon, on Tuesday ceased functioning as a saloon and began to undergo certain alterations to enter into the more prosaic occupation of housing a new bakery.
It is one of the old landmarks of the city and was built in the early sixties by E. R. Hansch, a former officer in the Prussian army, who opened a saloon there. Behind the operated a brewery and distillery. On the second floor of the saloon was a turners' vein and a dance hall. This saloon was used in 1862 as the headquarters of the home defense forces in the Indian scare. Hansch, because of his military experience, having been made commander of these forces. The scare proved to be a "bloomer." For years this building with one other was the only brick building in the block, which is now one of the principal blocks in the city.

Alkali Makes Soap Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mu-sified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.
Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes off every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

How Much is 1¢

Suppose that for one cent you could insure the quality of your cake, biscuits, etc., wouldn't that be real economy?

Well, one cent is about the difference in the cost of a whole cake or a pan of biscuits made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder as compared with cheaper baking powders made from alum or phosphate — a trifle, indeed, to insure the quality and wholesomeness of your baking.

MILITARY BALL DATE IS SET FOR MAY 5TH

Members of the dance committee of the American War Veterans, Janesville's new order of men who saw service in the world strife, at a meeting last night decided upon May 6 as the date of their first annual military ball. It was the decision of the committee that the party be one of military features throughout.

"The Swiftest Ball of the Season" is the slogan under which the committee is working and indications of the expected gigantic success of the soldier's party is found in the plan to dispose of 1,500 tickets. If necessary the Teutobochian hall and two orchestras will be secured; the main event now being planned for the Armory.

No decision was reached as to music though it is planned to secure the best orchestra possible. Choclo has been ordered down to three, the Base Hospital musicians from Camp Grant, the Rag-a-White orchestra of Rockford or Thompson's First from Madison, with the second finding the most favor.

Extensive and elaborate decorations to transform the hall into a place of beauty are planned. A number of new novelty effects have already been decided on by the committee.

The Daily Novelette

On a Slow Fire.
(Great inventions series.)
"By Boulders!" swore Lantern-Jaw, newly-grabbed wife of Iron Mug the cave man. "Here Mugsy has come to me to help him a mastog-lopous steak and I haven't seen even the tail of a jinx yet!" And she raged around with her club dangling down her back where it was tied to her hair for safe carrying. (See "Edible Bits in the Stone Age," by Ecuador Siderstepp.)

After tramping around all day, Lantern-Jaw got real tired. "This walking will kill me," she said. "I must take care of myself for Iron-Mug's stomach, for I'm the only woman on the island and he can't cook anything for himself."

So she hunted in back of their cave for some weeds to cook.

Picking up about eighty handfuls of weeds which prove to have little round roots, Lantern-Jaw took them over to the fire, and laid them on top of a stone slab they used for a plate. (See Antoine Jugosiabik's "The First Potatoes and Who Cooked Them and How.")

"He can eat those or let 'em alone," muttered Lantern-Jaw, and if he cracks me on the dome, I'll hit a hole in his legs," she muttered resentfully, as Iron Mug came bounding over to the cave from rock to rock—thirty feet at a bound.

"Where's my steak?" he roared, as his hungry eyes fell on the poor little potatoes, for such they were.

Backing away, Lantern-Jaw pointed to the slab on the fire.

Without a useless word, Iron Mug let his club fly, missed Lantern-Jaw's lantern jaw by a quarter of an inch, landed right on top of the potatoes, and—

A CHANCE TO LIVE

This was one of her big days. Twenty-five cents was to be spent at the butcher's alone. Annie hoped she would be able to sneer, "Oooh—you're buying a ten-cent hamlet! My mamma buys that for our cat!" No. On this particular occasion Annie Hargan had to spend a whole dollar into the yorn housekeeping purse as she remained Annie to be sure and get a bone along with the stew meat, and be careful of the change?

In her best eight-year-old handwriting and with much wetting of the pencil Annie made out a list. Stew meat and salt pork at the butcher's. Tea, onions and a can of oil at the grocer's. Not that Annie couldn't remember the items quite well without putting them down. But it made her feel more important, more like the housewives, to read things off from a list.

Then she got the baby ready. Carefully she tied on its bonnet. Stuffed its sausage-like arms into itscoats' sleeves and put it in its carriage. There was a dab of grime on its cheek "and symptoms of dampness about its nose. Annie corrected these flaws with the heel of her skirt.

She tucked the oil can beside the baby's feet, spread the baby's best Afghan over all, and surveyed the effect admiringly. In fact, the baby, when finally ready for the outing, made so fine an appearance that Annie had misgivings as to her own sufficient elegance of toilette. With a whole dollar in one's purse and the baby's best Afghan in company, it being Saturday and all, the occasion seemed to demand extra embellishments in attire.

Annie climbed on a chair, stared into her mother's bed, and then, with a guarded her expression with disappointment. She saw a round little face with big, eager, round eyes. Annie thought her eyes would be nice if they were sky-blue, like Bertha Simons's doll's or sparkling black, like the buttony orbs of Rosie Rotherg. Annie's were not definite enough. In some lights they looked brown; in others, gray. Often they were almost black and much prettier than Bertha's doll's. But Annie didn't like them much.

Her hair was a source of wistfulness, too. It never looked smooth like Bertha's, nor did it make a thick, long braid like Edith's. Annie's—that the boys in the street pulled naughtily wavy that her mother encouraged into curls by brushing them over her finger when she had time. Which Annie hated. She wished her hair was bobbed off altogether, like some of the girls in school. But she was almost nine, and she could not do that.

Some day, if she could ever save up the money, Annie plotted to go over to the man's on Second street and have it cut off. Then she would have it cut off and get it whipped for it. Annie's mother never "whipped."

Annie's nose was nondescript, her mouth of generous proportions, and her father had laughingly said she "took after him, with a mouth like a catfish." Later, when her mother found out why she was crying, she told her that if she behaved prettily people would always think she was pretty and that she might turn out good-looking anyhow; you never could tell.

ATTRACTIVE APRON FOR YOUNG BRIDES

By ELOISE.

The season of the trousseau is upon us, and after suits, frocks, blouses and lingerie have been selected the young bride-to-be gathers in her array of aprons and house frocks. These, be it known to the lady, form an essential part of the newly married woman's wardrobe for the problem of looking neat and attractive in the kitchen and at the breakfast table is an important one.

One of the best solutions discovered. These aprons usually button from neck to hem and look like frocks. They may be long or short, styled and are really fitted to the figure which makes them trim-looking. Dainty little checks and plaids and smart striped material are the favored ones. This becoming model is pink and white checked gingham trimmed with blue bands of plain pink gingham. Novel pockets, a belt and a sailor collar form the only bit of trimming.

How Men React To Women's Clothes.
Do women really dress for men? Are their efforts in the sartorial line, directed wholly at other women? And if they do dress for men, does the average man repay the trouble in his appreciation of their efforts? This time honored question came to the surface the other night when a mere man's comments on the clothes of a young lady.

The feminine contingent were remarking on the possible cost of a very smart silk jersey which was strikingly ornamented by a broad band of some sort of angora material around the knees.

He Thought It Was A Sweater Around Her Knees.

"Was that an expensive dress?" said the Author, "I didn't know it. And I thought that thing around her knees was a sweater. I thought she was probably cold and had draped that round her knees to keep warm. She was sitting down most of the time, and I saw her, and I wondered why she didn't take it off when she went up stairs."

Now the Author is distinctly more observing than the ordinary man. And yet that was his reaction to what was unquestionably a very smart dress.

could chop whites fine, rub yolks smooth; mix with one cup celery, cut half one cup chopped ham, add enough salad dressing to moisten it. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Vegetable Soup Without Meat.—One-half cup chopped onion, one tablespoon butter or oil, one cup shredded cabbage, one-half cup chopped carrots, one leek, one tablespoon chopped pepper, one cup sliced potato, tablespoon chopped celery. Brown the onion slightly in butter or oil; add the water boiling and tomato; boil for ten minutes, then slowly for one hour, then add other ingredients; cook an hour longer. Keep covered part of the kettle.

Roast Steak.—A good substitute for a small roast. Select a tender, juicy steak two inches thick; lay steak out flat after brushing it with butter; season it highly. Prepare a dressing; you would stuff for chicken. Roll the spread it in and fasten with skewers or tie it. Season the outside and dredge with flour. Bake in oven until tender, basting often.

Potato Balls.—Select large potatoes, wash, pare and soak half an hour. Shave into balls with a French vegetable cutter. The odd shaped pieces which remain should be cooked at once, then drained and left to be prepared in some of the many ways for serving cold and hot water. Cook the balls in boiling salted water until soft; drain and to each pint of potatoes add one cup white sauce. Turn into a hot dish and garnish with finely chopped parsley.

Buttermilk Cake.—A very good and inexpensive cake recipe that does not require frosting. One cup sugar, one cup butter, one egg, one-half teaspoon soda (in the milk), two cups flour, one rounding teaspoon baking powder, baking, or if preferred, spices can be used. Sprinkle cinnamon and sugar on top.

Baked Apples.—Peel and core the apples. Then roll them first in melted butter, then in sugar. Put them in a buttered pan, sprinkle with sugar, add a little water and bake until done. Put apples in a dish. Boil down the syrup and pour over them. Apples cooked this way keep their shape. They are fine for dessert with whipped cream.

Potato Omelet.—Prepare mashed potatoes, turn into hot omelet pan, greased with one teaspoon bacon or ham fat, savory drippings or oil. Spread evenly, cook slowly until browned underneath and fold as an

Do Men Like Pretty Clothes Or Smart Clothes?

It has always been my theory that a man likes pretty and becoming clothes irrespective of cost or style. We all know the man of the morning dress that happens to be of his favorite color and disdains our smartest costume if he happens to consider it unbecoming.

But I have lately modified this theory to this extent. A man may like simple becoming clothes when he is in the home surrounded by home influences, but when he sees his wife out in the world with smart expensive clothes about her, he isn't satisfied with her appearance unless she looks smart, too. He may not know just what constitutes this smartness, but he can recognize the lack of it quickly enough.

Does This Kind of a Husband Exist?
One often hears generalizations about the husband who insists that his wife wears the most modest and conservative styles and then chases after the women who go to all the style extremes. Personally, I never met or had any first hand information about such a man. I wonder if he really exists, or is he just an imaginary type. Perhaps some letter friend can tell me.

omelet. This may be made into a hearty luncheon dish by the addition of grated cheese, peanut-butter or leftovers of meat or fish.

WITH CHEAPER EGGS.

Baked Eggs in Potato Nests.—Prepare ordinary mashed potatoes, then arrange in a shallow oiled baking dish, making as many depressions in the cabbage, one-half cup chopped carrots, one leek, one tablespoon chopped pepper, one cup sliced potato, tablespoon chopped celery. Brown the onion slightly in butter or oil; add the water boiling and tomato; boil for ten minutes, then slowly for one hour, then add other ingredients; cook an hour longer. Keep covered part of the kettle.

Crowned Eggs.—Make white sauce as follows: Two tablespoons butter or substitute, two tablespoons flour for each cup milk; season with one-quarter teaspoon salt and a few grains pepper; to each cup of sauce add the whites of two eggs cut fine; pour mixture over hot toast and add the yolks, forced through a strainer, serve hot.

Stuffed Eggs.—Cut four hard boiled eggs in halves crosswise. Remove yolks, wash and add two tablespoons of grated cheese, one teaspoon vinegar, one-quarter teaspoon mustard, and salt and paprika to taste. Add enough cream to make mixture of right consistency to shape. Mold into balls size of original yolks and refill the whites. Arrange on dish and pour around them a cup of hot white sauce.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

THE BEAMING COUNTENANCE

Queer thing how a fellow's dome begins to shine as soon as his hair begins to disappear, as though to advertise its better state. The greater the growth the higher the polish on the ivory. By the time the last four struggling hairs give up the ghost the knob is as resplendent and as conspicuous from a fair as the dome of the capitol.

The sheen is from too much grease. The same condition makes the capitate beam. And if there is anything in want of grease worse than a man hates to lose his mane it is to have a shiny face.

We doctors call this condition seborrheic otitis, which I mention by way of warning. Always when we don't know much about a disease we pick out a large, impressive name for it, in the hope that while the patient is staggering under the shock of hearing his trouble named we can dash off a prescription, take the fee, and bow the poor fellow out. For instance, I should be actually ashamed to print here the medical name for adhesions takes considerable to shame me; but Dr. R. T. Morris, who knows more about adhesions and such things in a minute than I know about seborrhea, imparts to me in thirty years, calls them sebaceous glands and every good housewife knows what that means.

The sebaceous oil poured out upon the skin by the sebaceous glands and sebaceous follicles is secreted by these glands under the irritation of bacteria—the same bacteria that cause head-rings and permanent baldness. Excessive flow of sebaceous oil, the name isn't so bad after all. The oil flows not only over the scalp but over the forehead and nose, sometimes so freely that it may be wiped off in droplets on the handkerchief. No wonder the countenance beams like a charwoman's on a warm afternoon. And no wonder the ladies carry powder puffs in their vanity bags.

The affected skin should be vigorously washed with liquid (green) soap and water two or three times a day, warm, followed by several windings with cool water. The skin should be sponged night and morning with light alcohol or toilet water or plain alcohol on pledgets of cotton, then powdered with zinc stearate powder. On retiring at night sponge the skin with a solution of ten grains of resorcinol and allow this to dry on. In severe or obstinate cases the dried skin may be afterward dusted lightly with a mixture of equal parts of powdered sulphur, powdered salicylic acid and powdered zinc stearate, taking pains to keep this out of the eyes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Smallpox.
We contemplate moving to a place where smallpox is prevailing. Our baby is six months old. Would you advise vaccination of a baby so young? (Mrs. C. W. R.)

ANSWER.—The younger the baby the more smoothly does vaccination occur. By all means protect your baby and every other member of the family against the risk of smallpox.

Tonsils and Run Down Condition

Do enlarged tonsils ever cause a general run-down condition? Mine have large white cavities in them. Would you advise having such tonsils removed? (Mrs. J.)

ANSWER.—Enlarged tonsils often cause run down health, but enlarged tonsils are not necessarily infected tonsils, and infected tonsils are often almost invisible in the throat. If your doctor believes your tonsils are infected it may be advisable to remove them.

Doctor Dilly Dally Hemhaws

I had my doctor examine my lungs, that is, I asked him to but he didn't have me strip to the waist—so I had to take off my shirt. He said it looked all right. If they were affected, and he has been treating me for months, I seem to be growing weaker. I cough some of the sputum to the health officers, but heard nothing from it. Should I see a lung specialist? (Mrs. I. M.)

ANSWER.—If your doctor sends the sputum to the health officer it will be examined and reported on. Ask your doctor to inform you whether you have tuberculosis. There are three honest answers to the question: Yes, No, or I Don't Know.

GREEN FANCY

By GEORGE BARR MCCUTCHEON
Author of "Graustark," "The Hollow of Her Hand," "The Prince of Graustark," Etc.
Copyright by Dodd, Mead and Co., Inc.
"What led you to suspect that he is at Green Fancy, Mr. Sprouse?"
"History. It is known that this Mr. Curtis has spent a great deal of time in the country alluded to. As a matter of fact, his son, who lived in London, had rather extensive business interests there. This son was killed in the Balkan war several years ago. It is said that the man I am looking for was a friend of young Curtis, who married a Miss O'Dowd in London—the Honorable Miss O'Dowd, daughter of an Irish peer and sister of the chap you have met at Green Fancy. About six weeks ago a former equerry in the royal household arrived in New York. Through him I learned that the daughter of the gentleman in whose house the senior Mr. Curtis was a frequent guest had been in the United States since some time prior to the beginning of the war. She was visiting friends in the States and has been unable to return to her own land, for reasons that must be obvious. I may as well confess that her father was, by marriage, an uncle of the late ruler.
"Since the invasion and overthrow of her country by the Teutonic allies she has been endeavoring to raise money here for the purpose of equipping and supporting the remnants of the small army that fought so valiantly in defense of the crown. These men, a few thousand only, are at present interned in a neutral country. I leave you to guess what will happen if she succeeds in supplying them with arms and ammunition. Her work is being carried on with the greatest secrecy. To bring the story to a close, I was instructed to keep close watch on the man O'Dowd. I traced him to this place. I was on the point of reporting to my superiors that he was in no way associated with the much-sought-after crown-cousin, and that Green Fancy was as free from taint as the village chapel, when out of a clear sky and almost under my very nose two men were mysteriously done away with at the very gates of the place. The killing of those two men changed the aspect completely. You will certainly agree with me after I have explained to you that the one known as Andrew Roan was no other than the equerry who had undertaken to find the young woman.

Barnes drew a long breath. His mind was made up. He had decided to pool issues with the secret agent, but not until he was convinced that the result of their co-operation would in no way inflict a hardship upon the young woman who had appealed to him for help. He was certain that she was the fair propagandist described by Sprouse.
"And the young woman, what of her? She would, in any case, be held for examination and—"
"My dear sir, I may as well tell you now that she is a loyal subject, and, far from being in bad grace at court, is an object of extreme solicitude to the ambassador. From what I can gather, she has disappeared completely. Roan was sent over here for the sole purpose of finding her and inducing her to return with him to Paris."
"And to take the treasure with her, I suppose," said Barnes dryly.
"Naturally."
"Well," began Barnes, introducing a harsh note into his voice, "I should say that if she is guilty of receiving this stolen property she ought to be punished. Jail is the place for her, Mr. Sprouse."
Sprouse put down his coffee cup rather suddenly. A queer pallor came into his face.
"You do not understand the situation. Haven't I made it plain to you that she is innocent of any intent to do wrong?"
"You have said so, Mr. Sprouse, but your idea of wrong and mine may not jibe."
"There cannot be two ways of looking at it, sir," said Sprouse, after a moment. "She could do no wrong."
Whereupon Barnes reached his hand across the table and laid it on Sprouse's. His eyes were dancing.
"That's just what I want to be sure about," he said. "It was my way of finding out your intentions concerning her."
"What do you mean?"
"Come with me to my room," said Barnes, suppressing his excitement. "I think I can tell you where she is—and a great deal more that you ought to know."
In the little room upstairs he told the whole story. The little man listened without so much as a single word of interruption or interrogation. Somewhat breathlessly Barnes came to the end.
"And now, Mr. Sprouse, what do you make of it all?" he inquired.
Sprouse leaned back in his chair, suddenly relaxing. "I am completely at sea," he said, and Barnes looked at him in surprise.
"By Jove, I thought it would all be as clear as day to you. Here is your man and also your woman, and the traveling bag full of—"
"Right you are," interrupted Sprouse. "That is all simple enough. But, my dear Barnes, can you tell me what Mr. Secretary Loeb's real name is? Why has he established himself so close to the Canadian line, and why the mobilization? I refer to his army of hussies."
"Heirs apparent usually have some sort of a bodyguard, don't they?"
Sprouse was staring thoughtfully at the ceiling. When he finally lowered his eyes it was to favor Barnes with a deep, inscrutable smile.
"I dare say the first thing for me to do is to advise the Canadian authorities to keep a sharp lookout along the border."

FIRM FOUNDATION

Nothing Can Undermine It in Janesville.
People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit, and they cannot be blamed, for so many have been lured by the past. The experience of many Janesville residents, expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources, places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation here.
S. E. Moore, carpenter, 615 Park Ave., Janesville, says: "I think the straining and stooping I did in my work was responsible for my kidneys getting out of order. I had pains through the small of my back, and when I stooped Doan's Kidney Pills quickly stopped the pain in my back and my kidneys again did their work as they should."
Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Moore had. Foster-McMillan Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

ity for Mr. O'Dowd? He is a very susceptible Irishman, I am told."
"I don't believe he will get much encouragement from her, Mr. Sprouse," said Barnes stiffly.
"If she is as clever as I think she is she will encourage him tremendously. I would if I were in her place. Mr. O'Dowd is only human. He isn't immune."
"I catch the point, Mr. Sprouse," said Barnes, rather gloomily. He did not like to think of the methods that might have to be employed in the subjugation of Mr. O'Dowd. "There is a rather important question I like to ask. Is she even remotely eligible to her country's throne?"
"Remotely, yes," said Sprouse.
"So remotely that she could marry a chap like O'Dowd without giving much thought to future complications?" he ventured.
"She'd be just as safe in marrying O'Dowd as she would in marrying you," was Sprouse's unsatisfactory response. The man's brow was wrinkled in thought. "See here, Mr. Barnes, I am planning a visit to Green Fancy, tonight. How would you like to accompany me?"
"I'd like nothing better," said Barnes, with enthusiasm.
"Will you agree to obey instructions? I can't have you muddling things up, you know."
"The grounds are carefully guarded," said Barnes, after they had discussed the project for some time. "Miss Cameron is constantly under the watchful eye of one or more of the crowd."
"I know. I passed a couple of them last night," said Sprouse calmly. "By the way, don't you think it would be very polite of you to invite the Green Fancy party over here to have an old-fashioned country dinner with you tonight?"
"It would be useless, Mr. Sprouse. They will not come."
"I am perfectly aware of that, but it won't do any harm to ask them, will it?"
Barnes chuckled. "I see. Establish myself as an innocent bystander, eh?"
"Get O'Dowd on the telephone and ask him if he can come," said Sprouse.

CHAPTER XII.

The First Wayfarer Accepts an Invitation.
Barnes insisted that the first thing to be considered was the release of Miss Cameron.

"If we can't think of any other way to get her out of this devilish predicament, Sprouse, I shall apply to Washington for help."
"And be laughed at, my friend," said the secret agent. "It is not a matter for the government to meddle in at all."
"Well, something has to be done at once," said Barnes doggedly. "She is depending on me. If you could have seen the light that leaped into her glorious eyes when I—"
"Yes, I know. I've heard she is quite a pretty girl. You needn't—"
"Quite a pretty girl!" exclaimed Barnes. "Why, she is the loveliest thing that God ever created. She has the face of—"
"I am beginning to understand O'Dowd's interest in her, Mr. Barnes. He has probably fallen in love with her with as little difficulty as you have experienced, and almost as expeditiously. He has seen a little more of her than you, but—"
"Don't talk nonsense. I'm not in love with her."
"Can you speak with equal author-

Tales of the Friendly Forest

farmers were busy working in the fields and didn't bring their corn to the ground into meal. So all the Miller's boys had to do was to attend to a few chores and then get out his gun and go hunting. And of course all the little four-footed people and the feathered ones were dreadfully worried. "Look here," said Mrs. Bunny one day to her little rabbit son, "you had better be mighty careful. You can't run faster than a bullet, you know. It's all very well to run away from Daddy Fox or Old Man Avesel, or to dodge under something to fool Robber Hawk, but a bullet is a different thing," and the kind lady bunny looked very knowingly at her son and said, "What if the old fox and give him a piece of cherry pie."
Well, as soon as the pie was gone Billy Bunny hopped out of the Old Briar Patch, clippity-clip, clippity-clip, and pretty soon he came to the Friendly Forest, where he met Tommy Chipmunk and Woody Chuck, and then he told them what his mother had said about being careful.
"She says a bullet can go faster than Daddy Fox," exclaimed the little rabbit, and as everybody in the Friendly Forest knew Mrs. Bunny never told anything that wasn't true, nor spread any gossip, like old Mother Magpie, these two little friends of Billy Bunny looked very serious. They began to feel that the Miller's Boy was a dangerous person.
"He's got all of our friends," said Woody Chuck, so off the three started; and by and by, not so very far, they came to the Friendly Forest pond where Danny Beaver and Mikey Mink lived.
"Pooh, pooh," they said, when they heard the news. "We're safe in the water. He can't get a shot at us." Billy Bunny and then he and Woody Chuck ran down to the Old Mill Pond to tell Uncle Bullfrog.
Now the old gentleman frog was half asleep on his log. His chin was resting on his gray waistcoat and his eyes were closed.
"Hello, there, Uncle Bullfrog," called out the little rabbit. And then the old frog opened his eyes and took out his wallet to see what time it was. For he thought at first it was Mrs. Bullfrog calling him home.
"Oh, it is you, is it?" he said to the little rabbit. "Gracious me, I must have been asleep," and in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

Sensible Treatment For Rheumatism

Drives Out the Millions of Tiny Pain Demons That Cause the Disease.
There are many ways of treating Rheumatism, but there is only one right way.
If you are beginning to feel the first slight touches of Rheumatism, there is untold pain and suffering ahead of you, if you follow blindly in the same misdirected foot-steps of unintelligent treatment. For remember that thousands of victims of this painful disease have spent countless hours, no doubt, as well as their hard-earned dollars in a vain effort to find a cure. And your own experience will be just as disappointing as theirs, if you follow the old, worn-out and worthless methods of treatment.
When you realize that you must get rid of the cause of Rheumatism, and that its torturing pains will disappear when their cause is removed, then you will be on the right track, and there is a splendid chance for you to rid yourself of the disease.
The most common form of Rheumatism is caused by millions of tiny disease germs which infect the blood.
The one and only sensible treatment, therefore, is one which cleanses the blood of these germs, and roots them entirely out of the circulation. And everyone knows that this cannot be done by rubbing the surface with liniments.
This is why E. S. S., the greatest known blood purifier, is so successful in the treatment of Rheumatism. It is a powerful cleanser of the blood, it promptly roots all disease germs. E. S. S. has been used for more than half a century, and it will prove beneficial in any case of Rheumatism.
If you are a victim of this disease, why waste further time with the wrong kind of treatment? Go to your druggist to-day and get a bottle of E. S. S., and begin a course of treatment that will delight you with its results. E. S. S. will remove the disease germs that cause your Rheumatism, affording relief that is genuine.
We maintain a medical department in charge of a specialist on Rheumatism, and after beginning treatment with E. S. S. you are invited to write for free medical advice about your own case. Address: Chief Medical Adviser, 104 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

... and at the Stock Exchange

A fact:

At this, the very heart of Wall Street itself, one would naturally expect only high-priced cigarettes to be popular. But Fatima has proved an exception. Fatima's popularity at the Stock Exchange is, in fact, so great that only one change is, in fact, so great that only one cigarette—a high priced one, of course—equals or leads Fatima in sales.

Leggett & Sons Tobacco Co.

... and at the Waldorf-Astoria

A fact:

The Waldorf in New York is over the country, where Fatima is the largest-selling cigarette. The same thing is true, for example, at the Astor, New York, where over 200,000 Fatimas are sold every month. At the Willard, in Washington; at the Gibson and the Sinton, in Cincinnati; at the Coppley Plaza, the Touraine, the Parker House, and Young's, in Boston; and at dozens of other leading hotels and clubs, too! all over the country.

Leggett & Sons Tobacco Co.

Where Fatima Stands

These facts are reprinted to show you.

The advertisements reproduced here have all appeared in this paper. Please look at them again. They help to illustrate Fatima's unique position as the only inexpensive cigarette that seems actually to be preferred to expensive cigarettes.

For example, Fatima outsells or closely rivals in sales even the highest-priced cigarettes, at such places as

- the Astor, New York
- the Coppley Plaza, Boston
- the Gibson and the Sinton, Cincinnati
- the Stock Exchange, New York
- the Touraine, Boston
- the Waldorf-Astoria, New York
- the Yale Club, New York

—and also at many other such places, not mentioned in these advertisements—for instance:

- the Auditorium, Chicago
- the Capitol Building, Washington
- the Congress, Chicago
- the Statler, St. Louis
- the Willard, Washington

Men who buy their Fatimas at such places as these, buy them not because of moderate price, but because they prefer Fatimas. They prefer Fatimas' taste and they find that Fatimas treat them right.

Leggett & Sons Tobacco Co.

NOTE: More and more men, it seems—both those who care nothing for price and those who feel that they should not smoke high-priced cigarettes—are realizing the common-sense of adopting Fatima as their steady smoke.

20 for 23¢

... and with the 200 men who sailed for the Peace Conference

A fact:

For the 200 or more men of note who sailed on the George Washington for the Peace Conference, more than a dozen different brands of cigarettes were carried in stock by the ship's "canteen." Of these, the cigarette carried and sold in the largest quantity was Fatima.

Leggett & Sons Tobacco Co.

FATIMA
A Sensible Cigarette

... and at the Yale Club

A fact:

At this—one of New York's finest clubs—Fatima is the only inexpensive cigarette enjoying a large sale. Month after month, Fatimas hold their place as one of the Yale Club's three leading sellers.

FATIMA
A Sensible Cigarette

... and cigarettes helped to win it

What a part the cigarette played! In those grim, tense moments, waiting for the word to "go"; in that blessed lull, hours afterward, just before the relief party came; in those other, sterner moments when his spirit fought to smile, what was the thing he wanted most?

The cigarette! And now, with the big job done, what so much as the cigarette will help "keep him smiling" until he's home again?

A fact:

Over 740 million Fatimas have so far been shipped to our soldiers abroad. And more are constantly on the way for the boys who still are over there.

... and with the everyday man on the job

A fact:

At the Capitol Building in Washington, at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, and at scores of other such places—where you would naturally expect only high-priced cigarettes to sell—Fatimas lead in sales. But important as these sales are, they're but a "drop in the bucket" compared with the MILLIONS of Fatimas smoked every day by the big, plain, "you-and-me" public.

FATIMA

A fact:

At the four most exclusive hotels in Boston—the Coppley Plaza, the Touraine, the Parker House and Young's—the biggest-selling cigarette is not one of the high-priced brands, as one might expect, but Fatima.

But Famo will stop it and make the hair and scalp clean and healthy.

Every person who has dandruff has Seborrhea.

It is the dangerous disease that attacks the hair roots. It causes sickly, falling hair; and finally baldness.

Famo Destroys Seborrhea Germs

Famo was perfected by one of the old pharmaceutical houses of Detroit to kill this deadly germ.

It has succeeded in thousands of cases.

No matter how badly you are afflicted by Seborrhea, Famo offers immediate relief.

Famo destroys the Seborrhea bacilli.

It stops the unhealthy excretion which forms in scales and flakes. This is commonly known as dandruff.

Most People Have Seborrhea

Famo will grow new, healthy hair. It makes the hair soft and luxuriant.

Famo gives added beauty to the hair. It prevents falling hair and itchy scalp.

Seborrhea afflicts most people.

Deep down in the sebaceous scale glands it attacks the hair roots.

Allowed to run unchecked, it is fatal to hair, just as Pyorrhea is fatal to teeth.

It is not enough to remove the dandruff scale.

The deadly Seborrhea germ itself must be destroyed.

Famo destroys it and nourishes the hair roots.

Famo is Free From Alcohol

Famo is not an experiment. It contains ingredients well known to the medical profession.

But until they were combined in Famo they had never been used in treating the hair and scalp.

For three years Famo was tested before it was offered to the public.

By its success in thousands of cases it has proven that it is the one treatment for Seborrhea.

Famo contains no alcohol.

Alcohol dries the scalp and hastens grayness.

Use Famo Every Day

Famo retards grayness by making hair and scalp healthy and keeping them so.

Famo should be used every day. Its application takes but a moment.

No massaging or shampooing is necessary.

Sprinkle Famo on the head and almost instantly it is absorbed by the scalp and is fighting the Seborrhea microbe.

Dollar Bottle a Third Larger

Famo is economical. The dollar bottle is a quarter to a third larger.

It is sold at all toilet goods counters. If the large bottle does not satisfy, your money will be refunded.

Two sizes—$1 and 35 cents.

Applications at the better barbershops and hair dressing establishments.

Start using Famo today and destroy the Seborrhea that is killing your hair.

Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrhea excretion forms in scales and flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

NEIBOUR, THOMAS O., (98595) Private, Co. M, 167th Infantry.

FOR conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against the enemy near Landres-et-St. Georges, France, 16 October, 1918.

When this objective had just been gained after bitter fighting and the summit of that strong bulwark in the Kriemhilde Stellung was being organized, Private Neibour was sent out on patrol with his automatic rifle squad to enfilade enemy machine-gun nests. As he gained the ridge he set up his automatic rifle and was directly wounded in both legs by fire from a hostile machine gun. The advance wave of the enemy troops counter-attacking had about gained the ridge and although practically cut off and surrounded, the remainder of his detachment being killed or wounded, this gallant soldier kept his automatic rifle in operation to such effect that by his own efforts and by fire from the skirmish line of his company, at least one hundred yards in his rear, the attack was checked. Four of the enemy attacked Private Neibour at close quarters. These he killed. Private Neibour captured eleven prisoners at the point of his pistol and, although painfully wounded, brought them back to our lines. The counter-attack in full force was arrested to a large extent by the single efforts of this soldier, whose heroic exploits took place against the skyline in full view of his entire battalion.
